

Sarah Michaelis

Sarah Michaelis is a recent graduate of Utah Valley University. She studied political science with an emphasis in global politics, graduating with the UVU Honors Program. While completing her Bachelor of Arts degree, she conducted nationwide research regarding sexual assault prevention as an honors thesis and presented her research paper at the Utah Conference of Undergraduate Research. She also participated in Utah International Mountain Forum (UIMF) activities such as the observation of International Mountain Day 2020 and other UVU events hosting guest speakers presenting on sustainability. Sarah is currently working for the International Rescue Committee in Salt Lake City, Utah.